Northeast Data Destruction and Doc Shredding Merger Announced

Mansfield, MA (September 17, 2007) - Randy Miller, General Manager and Principal of Northeast Data Destruction, Mansfield, MA, and Brian Johnson, President of Doc Shredding located in Stoughton, MA, announce a merger of their two companies.

This merger will create a new entity, Northeast Data Destruction, LLC, that will become a leading full service provider of secure document and media destruction. This new company will offer both on site shredding, utilizing mobile vehicles, and off site shredding at their secure shredding facility. Additional services include hard drive destruction and asset management, comprising of decommissioning and recycling of electronic components and material recycling services.

“We will now provide a complete and comprehensive list of secure client services, eliminating the need to involve various vendors” stated Randy Miller. “Our combined expertise in the field of on site and off site document destruction, as well as recycling and material recovery, will support clients with multiple needs. Further, it will allow our clients to not only efficiently and securely dispose of confidential documents, files, and media, but also electronics and other items typically generated in an office environment.”

“We will offer a “green and environmentally friendly alternative”, for companies looking to properly dispose of electronics and recyclable materials. I don’t think there is a company that is supplying these services in one complete package.” said Brian Johnson, President of Doc Shredding.

Mr. Johnson further states, “Our plan is to initially provide these expanded services to our current client base, and then expand to areas beyond the Northeast.”

About Northeast Data Destruction

The business was started in 2003 in response to the Banking, Medical, and Financial Institutions demand for secure document and data destruction services. The founder, Randy Miller, owner of Miller Recycling Corporation, has over 30 years of individual experience in the recycling and solid waste disposal field. Exposure and review of existing shredding operations, as well as continual requests from clients initiated the creation of this company.

About Doc Shredding

In less than 3 years Doc Shredding Corporation, under the management of Brian Johnson, has grown to an area leader in on site document shredding services. His successful customer service experience has enabled him to quickly expand and grow his customer base, keeping the clients needs first and foremost. This high level of service, along with an unrelenting commitment to 100% customer satisfaction, has allowed Doc Shredding to expand in a growing field of large, impersonal shredding service providers.
